

Feeling Thermometer

The Feeling Thermometer helps you communicate and track your feelings each day. It measures feelings on a scale of comfortable (green) to uncomfortable (red). Using the thermometer you can measure the intensity of your feelings and note how the different intensities affect you.

